

Getting to the snow

SELF DRIVE:

Mt Baw Baw is just a 2.5 hours drive from Melbourne or a 1.5 hour drive from Traralgon.

Option 1: Tourist Route (from Melbourne)

The turn off from Princes Hwy (M1) is at the Drouin/Mt Baw Baw exit. Continue along via Noojee and Mt Baw Baw along the Main Neerim Rd (C425). Follow this road through Noojee where it will then follow into the Mt Baw Baw Tourist Rd (C426). Travel through Icy Creek and Tanjil Bren before reaching the resort gates. Last available fuel is on the Princes Hwy (M1) at Longwarry.

Option 2: South Face Road (accessed via either Moe or Traralgon).

From Moe – from the M1 take the turn off at the Moe exit and then continue via Erica. At Parkers Corner, veer left onto the Thomson Valley Road. 3km along, turn left onto South Face Road. Last major fuel stop is Moe.

From Traralgon - Turn at set of traffic lights at McDonalds in town centre of Traralgon. Travel along Grey Street and follow signs to Tyers/Walhalla (C477, C481, C461). Continue on the C481 through Rawson. At Parkers Corner, turn right onto the Thomson Valley Road. 3km along, turn left onto South Face Road. Last major fuel stop is Traralgon.

Option 3: Eastern Suburbs

From the far eastern suburbs your best option is to travel along the Warburton Highway to Yarra Junction where you turn off onto the tourist road near Noojee (C426). Follow this through Icy Creek and Tanjil Bren until you reach the entry gate. Last available fuel is Yarra Junction.

Mt St Gwinear

Follow option two directions above until to Parkers Corner. Veer into the Thomson Valley Road and follow for around 8km. Turn left onto Gwinear Rd. Follow this unsealed road for 2-3km until you reach the car park for Mt St Gwinear.

The South Face Road

The South Face Road 25km long and is unsealed for its total length, but it provides all weather access without steep gradients or sharp hairpin bends. The road was developed as a logging road and has been designed to modern transport standards. In winter, the South Face Road is cleared of snow. The advised maximum speed is 50km/h. A major intersection with new ticket office and entry gate has been developed at the Neulynes Mill site on the Mt Baw Baw Tourist Road.

Handy Hints for using snow chains

- Bring garden gloves and a plastic sheet for when you need to fit and remove chains. It can be a messy job.
- Drive no faster than 25km when chains are being used and don't spin the wheels as the chains will break.
- Broken chains must be removed immediately as they are useless and will probably chew up your brake cords.
- Please check on snow and road conditions prior to leaving – ROAD CONDITIONS 131 170.
- Victorian Snow Report 1902 240 523.
- Use your gears or transmission (second or third) for engine braking and brake gently when ascending and descending the mountain.
